Study In Europe Offered By SIU

Southern Illinois University is offering several courses of study to be taught this summer in Europe. A chartered flight will leave St. Louis on June 21, departing in London with students and faculty, and returning from Paris on Sept. 1.

Members of the study groups will spend a week traveling from London through Germany before going to Vienna for six weeks of concentrated study. Highlights of this tour will include sightseeing in London, visiting the Universities of Cologne and Bonn, as well as the German Parliament, Heidelberg, Nuremberg, and the Dachau Concentration Camp. The final three weeks of the program provide free time for students' independent travel.

Two three-hour courses in history will be offered by Dr. Stanley B. Kimball, assistant professor in the Social Sciences Division, Edwardsville campus. These courses, according to Kimball, are designed to acquaint the student with the principal political, economic, social, and intellectual developments in Central Europe since the French Revolution, with special emphasis on the force of nationalism.

Other SIU courses offered abroad include Intermediate German, taught by Dr. Helmut Liedloff; Government 454, Development of German Democracy, taught by Dr. Orville Alexander; and Printing and Photography, one- to three-hour workshop in still photography taught by Dr. C. William Horrell.

Three recent cancellations, Kimball said, have made three seats available for the round-trip flight. Further information about these seats may be obtained by contacting Dr. Kimball at SIU's Alton center.

Ray Hoffman turned in four innings of shutout relief for Spengler as Harrison departed from the mound after three frames. Cyle Meyers went all the way for Busy Bee and was the loser.

Day-Oesch Nuptials Take Place In Ferguson, Mo.

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Elizabeth Oesch of Ferguson, Mo., and Michael O. Day, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Day, reside at 2834 Iowa street. The ceremony took place at St. John and St. James Catholic Church in Ferguson on Saturday morning. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oesch, 31 Compton avenue, Ferguson.

Before an altar banked with sumptuous greenery and bouquets of white gladioli, the doubling nuptial Mass was performed by Rev. John McIntee, at eleven o'clock.

Escorted down the white carpet aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage, the former Miss Oesch was beautifully gowned in pure white silk organza over tulle. Delicate appliqued roses in ivory etched the rounded neckline and were duplicated on sweeping panels at either side of the very bouffant skirt, which was further extended over a diamond hoop.

Encircling her waist was a wide flat cummerbund ending in a large bow at the center back with flowing streamers terminating at the hem of the demitrain. Three-quarter length sleeves of sheer organza were slightly scalloped at the edges and detailed with a single applique rose.

The bridal veil of pure silk illusion was chapel length and was very full and was secured with Queen's crown of tiny pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded with roses and long white streamers.

They were preceded down the aisle by a maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Schepers of Ferguson, whose full length gown of maize yellow silk organza and tulle was designed in Edwardian fashion. Her modified bell-shaped skirt was sheath-styled at the waist with controlled fullness swept to the back where two full bloom roses of the same material were pinned.

The July meeting is scheduled with Mrs. Williams, 129 Riverview drive.

Wedding music was provided by organist Miss Karen Pevler, who also accompanied William Parker, soloist, in the selections, "On This Day" and "Ave Maria." Before the wedding party left the church, the bride presented a bouquet of red Buceran roses to the statue of the Virgin Mary.

Later the same evening, a reception was given by the bride's parents at the Veterans and Community Center, Florissant, Mo., attended by approximately 300 guests.

The former Miss Oesch was graduated at Incarnate Word Academy, Normandy, in 1960, and is employed at a St. Louis bank. Mr. Day, a 1957 graduate of Granite City high school, attended the University of Missouri for two years and is associated with the Yellon Supply Co., Granite City.

The newly-wedded couple will reside in Granite City.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL R. LINGLE, whose wedding took place Saturday afternoon at Emmanuel Baptist Church. The former Miss Catherine Elaine Price is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Price, 1243 Klein street, Venice.

Miss Catherine E. Price And Paul Ronald Lingle Wed

Candlelight illuminated the sanctuary of Emmanuel Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Catherine Elaine Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Price, 1243 Klein street, Venice, and Airman First Class Paul Ronald Lingle, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Jordan reside at 2320 Orville avenue. The four o'clock double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Keith Stanford, pastor of Suburban Baptist Church.

Bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned the altar with tall burning tapers in beaded candelabra. The bridesmaids, seated at either side, large white bows marked the family party, and the bride escorted down a white carpet aisle by her father who gave her in marriage.

A program of wedding music was furnished by Miss Carolyn LeGrand, organist, and Mrs. Roy Bracamonte, soloist, who sang "I Thee Wed." Because of the weather, the bride wore a full length gown of white nylon organza, delicately traced with the same material. Flowing side panels, gathered very full, formed her voluminous skirt, which terminated in a graceful Cathedral train. A jeweled crown of seed pearls and aurora borealis beads held in place her finger-trip bridal veil of French silk illusion. She wore white elbow length gloves and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and lilies of the valley, centered with a single white orchid.

The bride was graduated from Venice high school this year. Her husband, a 1960 graduate of Granite City high school, is currently on leave from the Fore Base Division, Alton. Completion of his leave in July, he is expected to be sent for a tour of duty in Greece.

Bridge Traffic Breaks 400,000 Barrier In May

McKinley Bridge traffic in May shattered all previous records, a monthly report by Bridge Manager Henry McMillen discloses.

For the first time, vehicular crossings on the Venice-owned river span topped the 400,000 mark for a one-month period, soaring to 418,606. Previous high was 399,299 in March.

The average for the 31-day month was 13,535, also a new high, topping the 13,225 daily figure set in April. The 30-day April total was 396,768.

March, with its 31 days, showed a 13,880 daily mark in reaching the 399,299 tabulation.

The past month's 418,606 crossings compare with 355,643 in May 1961, 350,569 in May 1960 and 387,739 in May 1959.

Traffic through the first five months of 1962 has reached 1,915,090, indicating that another 4,000,000 calendar year is a certainty. For the eight months since the start of the 1961-62 fiscal year, Oct. 1, the traffic tally is 3,067,232.

Tavern Suspensions By State Start Today

Five-day liquor license suspensions for four area taverns, handed down last month at Springfield by the state liquor commission are starting today.

The suspensions resulted from hearings conducted for tavern operators throughout the state who had purchased $500 federal gambling stamps. Most of the operators had surrendered their gambling stamps prior to the hearings.

Local taverns given suspensions were Miss Mae's at 1608 Edwardsville road, operated by Mae Baugert in Granite City; 2425 tavern, 2542 Highway 97 outside the city limits, operated by William Teller and James L. Atkins; and two Madison taverns, Johnnie's tavern, 1500 Fourth street, operated by John Lewis, and Jug's Hideaway, 925 Grand avenue, operated by Clayton H. Harrison.

His car had stopped behind the other which was making a left turn and was struck from behind by a third car, it was learned.

Second Phase Of Shelter Survey Will Begin Soon

Contracts are being awarded for the second phase of the national fallout shelter survey and marking program. In Illinois the U.S. Army Engineer District, Chicago, is negotiating with civilian architect-engineer firms awarding contracts.

Seven geographical areas are being employed with one firm holding the prime contract for its particular area and associating with other firms to assist in the work.

The object is to mark shelters which satisfy prescribed protection, capacities and certain other requirements, to determine the feasibility and preliminary estimated cost of improving designated areas to meet minimum shelter requirements of increase capacity, to survey selected facilities, and to collect and analyze essential data for summarization by the office of Civil Defense.

The target date for completion of all second phase contracts is Aug. 31. Computerized protection factors and minimum capacities for each shelter, based on data collected in the first phase, are being received from the National Bureau of Standards by the Chicago district.

Meanwhile, lists of potential shelters and their addresses surveyed in the first phase, together with base maps showing shelter locations and peak population, are being distributed to local Civil Defense authorities through the Illinois Civil Defense agency.

In the material received from the Bureau of Standards, the potential shelters are shown in eight categories according to their protection factors. The protection factor is the measure of the ability of a facility to reduce fallout radiation.

Local governments and Civil Defense directors are being requested to arrange for oral presentation from owners of structures, or their representatives, for inspection and marking of the premises.

The protection factor ranges from 20 to "over 1000." A protection factor of 40, for example, indicates that the radiation inside the facility will be one-fourth of the radiation outside.

Shelters will be evaluated only on the basis of meeting 10 prescribed general criteria.

The architect-engineers will inspect facilities such as mines, caverns, caves, tunnels, subways, underpasses and other subsurface inclosures. They will be evaluated in respect to shielding, marking and possible improvements generally according to the prescribed criteria.

These special facilities were reported as possible shelters during the first phase.

As part of their inspection of shelter areas, including special facilities, the architect-engineers will collect additional data such as structure information and evidence of rodent and insect infestation.

They also will prepare simple descriptions or sketches of each shelter area which meets the marking requirements. Data collection forms will be forwarded to the Census Bureau facility at Jeffersonville, Ind.

Summer School Session Opening In GC Tomorrow

Eight-Year-Old's Talent For Electricity Is Useful

Press-Record Staff Photographer

UNUSUAL TALENT—Danny Serich, 8, probably knows more about electricity than most adults. Here he repairs a hair dryer for his aunt, Mrs. Earl Schardon, of 3000 Madison avenue. He has been installing electrical devices and repairing appliances since he was four.

When Danny Serich was 4, the other boy bought candy, crawling, his favorite past-time was pulling out electrical plugs and putting them back. Today, at the ripe old age of eight, he fixes all the electrical appliances for his parents and neighbors, builds electrical devices and even improves record players.

He says he wants to be an "electric scientist" when he grows up and invent new things. Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen D. Serich of Atlanta, Ga. The couple lived in Granite City until 10 years ago. Danny was born in Atlanta where his father is in the real estate business.

The family is in Granite City for a six-week vacation visiting relatives Dan Serich and Mrs. Joe Pulus, all of 1536 Joy avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schardon of 3000 Madison avenue, and John Serich of 2805 Birch avenue.

Used Wires For Toys
As long as Danny's parents can remember, the boy has been playing with pieces of wire. When he was four he put a new plug on a sweater wire for his mother. She was afraid to test it until her husband came home. It worked fine and since that time Danny has been the electrician around the house. For four years now he has handled all of the Christmas tree wiring and decorations.

He splices sets of lights and installs outdoor lights. "When he was five, Danny wanted a party and couldn't have one," his mother said. "So I gave him $5, the price his party would have cost, and took him to the dime store and told him he could buy anything he wanted. He spent the entire $5 on electrical switches and parts." She said one time Danny and another boy had some money of their own and went to the store.

a hold of the power wire." With all his tinkering and experimentation, Danny claims he has only blown four or five house fuses. He is very careful, according to his mother, and makes the other children be careful when they are near his equipment.

Repaired Record Player
He repaired the family record player and installed remote control so it can be operated from another room. The house had an intercom system when the family moved in, but Danny installed extra speakers, including one in the garage. He repairs radios and even built a window fan. His parents would not let him use the fan, however, because it did not have a guard on it.

Asked if he had ever had an electric shock, Danny said, "Just one, but I was only five then. I was putting a light on a tree by the hammock and grounded the third wire on a pipe. The wires were mixed up inside and I had

The St. Louis apartment is in the 6100 block of Prescott avenue. The material was discovered after firemen extinguished a blaze in the apartment of Miss Conyers Shaw, 25. They said the fire, which was minor, was caused by smoking in the bedroom. When checking the next apartment, to make certain the fire had been contained, a studio darkroom was found. Police said Coolidge related that photography was his hobby and denied distributing pictures. He had studied photography in St. Louis and said he made art photos as class projects. Miss Shaw was booked suspected of participating in manufacture of the pictures. Police said she was in some of the photographs.

May Correct 'Ham' Radio Television Interference

Television viewers who are sometimes bothered with interference from amateur radio operators may be able to correct the problem at little or no expense or trouble, according to a local "ham" radio group. Marvin L. McGee, secretary of the Tri-City Radio Association, said there are a number of reasons why an amateur station, police radio, mobile radio-telephone or similar units may cause interference in a television receiver. "An involved explanation would not be understood by the average TV set owner," McGee said, "but let's try it in simple terms: suppose an amateur operates on 51 megacycles, a frequency to which he legally is entitled. Channel 2 on your TV set covers the range from 54 to 60 megacycles. "Since many TV tuners will take in a band width as high as 15 megacycles, there is nothing to prevent it from picking up the amateur station." McGee said a television owner who is frequently bothered by interference from amateur broadcasters should write the manufacturer of his set. If it is a recent model, he said, the manufacturer may furnish a trap which can be installed on the back of the set to eliminate the interference. If not, a trap can be purchased or installed by a TV service man, he said. "If your set is properly aligned this trap will eliminate interference," McGee said. "You may find it will actually improve all reception because it will trap out other interference you didn't know existed."

COUNTRY CLUB POOL proves a popular spot during sweltering spring and summer afternoons. The pool itself reflects the beauty of its surroundings overlooking the rolling golf course which also provides a welcome escape from the usual hot weather routine. The youngsters especially delight in the pool where a qualified life guard is on duty. Even those not in swim suits seem to be refreshed by watching those who are.

AWAITING THE RUSH of afternoon golfers, a group of caddies stand in the shade of one of the many trees surrounding the club house and scattered over the grounds. Caddy ing at the club has given many boys an opportunity to earn their own money while working in clean, attractive outdoor surroundings.

NOT EXCLUSIVELY for men, the club's 18-hole golf course is put to frequent use by the ladies of the club. Here, Mrs. Marion E. (Rhoda) Wilson, is set for a final putt on the 18th hole, while Mrs. Wesley J. (Rosemary) Lomax (left), and Mrs. George (Irene) Louis wait their turns. The three are among a number of local women who make use of club facilities.

SHORT PUTT by Martin Schuster, Granite City, is watched closely by James Todd, also of Granite City, left, and Harold Jenkins of Edwardsville. In the background is more of the rolling course of the Sunset Hills Country Club.

and neighboring homes which stand near the edge of the bluffs overlooking the American Bottoms toward the Quad-Cities.

Sunset Hills Country Club Is Historical Area Asset

Forty years ago, on a 104.5-acre tract of land just above the bluffs between the Quad-Cities and Edwardsville, the Sunset Hills Country Club was founded.

In the beginning, it was known as the Madison County Country Club. Its site is the old Rowekamp homestead, land which became the property of a Presidential grant long before Illinois was admitted to the union.

It perhaps has been within the last five years, however, that the most significant history of the club has been written. To the original tract has been added 26 acres, with nine new holes opened on the golf course. The Olympic-size swimming pool was opened in 1959.

Today the club offers a variety of activities to those who make use of it. Its 7.5-acre lake offers fishing in a cool, sequestered setting. Its pool attracts both bathers and sun worshippers and its greens are crowded daily with ardent golfers.

The clubhouse itself provides space for indoor activities with a spacious lounge and dining area. An outdoor barbecue is yet another attraction.

Lake Dam Burst

Construction of the clubhouse began in 1921, and the first activity took place the following year. The lake was built shortly afterward. But during the first year the dam burst, resulting in debris which for a while appeared to threaten the continuance of the club.

A group of members rescued the organization from its financial straits, however, by taking over existing mortgages themselves.

The original price of membership was purchase of a $125 share of stock, and maximum membership was 250. Yearly dues were $80. The maximum membership was acquired before the club was formally organized. Others were eager to join, and a waiting list soon developed.

But after the "black Tuesday" in 1929 when the nation was plunged into the depths of the depression, country club membership was one of the luxuries many members apparently found it necessary to drop. Membership went down considerably.

In the late 1930's, under the leadership of club president Walter Fershall, the membership maximum was set at 200. It finally was increased to 300 in recent years.

Consolidation Planned
Presently, only 10 members

ship vacancies exist. A club membership may be secured for $480, or purchase of a $250 share of stock in the holding company which owns the property and a $220 membership fee. Membership dues are $300 a year.

Steps are being taken to consolidate the non-profit holding company — known as the EG (for Edwardsville-Granite City) Golf Club — and the membership group, the Sunset Hills Country Club. The membership greatly overlaps, and existence of dual groups has been based primarily on technicalities.

Use of the club facilities is not limited to club members alone. All privileges enjoyed by the registered member also are available to his immediate, dependent family.

Social Activities

The club house is the scene of frequent dances, parties and other social activities for children and teenage youngsters, as well as for adults. Many persons who are not golfers take advantage of other facilities offered by the club.

Biggest challenge immediately ahead, according to club "pro" Howard Popham, is completion of work on the new nine holes of the golf course.

"We still have a lot of work to do over there," Popham said, "but when we get the new holes in shape we're going to have one of the most beautiful courses in the country."

In addition to Popham, the practical activities of the daily operation of the club are handled by Pat Ryan, club manager; Don Leas, who is in charge of the pool, and Don Meikamp, golf course superintendent, and their staffs.

Club Officers

Current president of the club is Roy Fruit of Edwardsville. Vice-president is Harold Karandjeff of Granite City, while E. H. Niedringhaus of Collinsville is secretary-treasurer.

Governing body of the organization is a 15-man board of directors, elected by the members. The club's constitution originally called for a nine-member board, but the number was raised by an amendment in 1953. Present members of the board, in addition to Fruit and Karandjeff, are Sidney L. Aubrey, Ernest Viehl, C. E. Townsend, Paul H. Lichtenberger and Tom Studebaker of Granite City; Richard Stokes, Jack Butler, Charles Schmidt, Dr. H. L. MacLennan, Robert Towell, Glen Wetzel and William Malsed of Edwardsville, and William Luening of Roxana.

CLUBHOUSE STANDS in the background as Munce Tarris of Marine makes ready to putt on the Fourteenth hole. The club greens are in top condition, as shown by the velvety surface apparent here.

READY TO CAST his line into the club lake is William Causey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Causey of 19 Oaklawn drive. The small lake, nestled between the new nine holes and the back side of the older course, provides an ideal fishing spot for club members and their families.

ELECTRICALLY POWERED golf carts, which run quietly and smoothly over the course, are available. Not only do they save considerable leg work, but the canopy overhead provides welcome relief from the hot summer afternoon sun. The carts may be rented for a nominal fee.

A LONE GOLFIER TRUDGES down the Sunset Hills golf course after teeing off in front of the club house in the background. The huge elm tree at right is one of many which give shade throughout the grounds as well as providing a beautiful setting. The narrow lane leading from U.S. Bypass 66 to the club house is visible behind the tree.

Urgent That Granite City Council Remove Its Roadblock To Fluoridation

A need for Granite City councilmen to authorize water fluoridation now is shown by the long delay experienced in St. Louis county. The county adopted a fluoridation ordinance in June 1959, but residents still are not enjoying its benefits, due to delaying court tests. Fortunately, the St. Louis county program has moved a step forward, with Missouri Public Service Commission approval of the proposed system and a two-cent monthly fee.

For the Illinois Metropolitan Area, Granite City action is especially urgent. In addition to the potential legal test, the Belleville-Swansea area remains a question mark. There has been talk of a separate water system for those two cities; if this does not materialize, council authorization of fluoridation will be needed there as well as in Granite City.

All other communities served by the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. have acted favorably on fluoridation, and this is understandable when the facts are considered. The cost is so low and the 60% reduction in future tooth decay so safe and sure that it is illogical to delay it.

Needless pain and expense do not mark time while the city council deliberates. Families not only in Granite City but in much of the remainder of Madison and St. Clair counties are the losers. Even in Granite City, the scene of inactivity, voters have demonstrated that they want fluoridation.

The city council has been extremely quiet on the fluoridation issue for many months. It is obvious that an alderman would be in a weak position if he tried to explain why he is helping to block a program so vital to the dental health of his constituents. But not talking about it will not cause the problem to go away; each day's delay is harmful, and so unnecessary.

Continuing Vote Investigation Can Serve Useful Purpose

Broadening of the county's investigation of local voting can serve a useful purpose by demonstrating the importance of proper election procedures and by illustrating ways in which such procedures can be violated unless citizens and officials are vigilant.

Adherence to impartial election rules is one of the chief distinctions between a land of freedom and a country enslaved by dictatorship. How far one precinct may have strayed from this ideal is a subject worthy of the grand jury's attention.

Record Locks Traffic Handled During May

Traffic through the Chain of Rocks Canal Locks increased sharply during May for an all-time record of 2,749,608 tons of freight and 4384 vessels.

A total of 1,208,492 tons passed over the locks last month, up from 1,188,000 tons in April. Freight tonnage was up 1878, from 2,627,000 tons in April to 2,628,878 tons in May. Other tonnage was grain, 2100; cement and gravel, 1400; sulphur, 31,500; iron and steel products, 37,800; miscellaneous commodities, 215,492; and chemicals, 98,100.

Downriver traffic totaled 1,450,616 tons. Of this 1,046,915 tons were petroleum products, 237,500; cement, sand and gravel, 9192; miscellaneous commodities, 52,580; iron and steel products, 89,141; and chemicals, 14,590.

Of the total amount of freight, 747,108 tons were commercial and 301,500 tons were for the government.

Three traffic fatalities occurred in the Quad-City area during May, increasing the year's toll to 11, the fifth highest five-month total in the past decade.

A May 2 crash was responsible for two of the deaths. George McCaslin, 22, of 2948 Lake street, was driving south on Edwards street when his auto went out of control in crossing railroad tracks and negotiating a sharp curve.

The vehicle struck a service station building at 14th street, killing the driver instantly. A passenger, Kenneth L. Lee, 21, of 4601 Lake street, suffered head injuries and died May 5.

On May 12, Thaddeus Cannon, 34, East St. Louis, was fatally injured when thrown out of his neighborhood auto on Route 67a three-quarters-mile south of Madison, near Bend road, after losing control while passing another vehicle and his car rolled over several times. He received head injuries and died later in the hospital.

THE PASTOR SAYS

REV. ROBERT D. SHAW
Trinity Park Assembly of God

We are susceptible to many influences. There is always the chance that we may be moved, regardless of the harm it does to our spiritual life.

The spirit of a restless age "gets to us" sooner or later. It is fraught with many dangers. The world and the church are going in different directions. The world is going "down" and the church is going "up."

"The man in the middle declared 'I have struck to my testimony.' He declared that he had stood true to right convictions—not moved by the world or every wind of doctrine that blew his hot breath upon him, he refused to be a quitter. He might stumble but never stop. Though in an unsteady equilibrium, 'purposed in his heart' that he would not defile himself." He stuck to his convictions.

I hear someone say, "Maybe Daniel didn't have any circumspect, or my husband, or my nervous system." We find many alibis for our deviation from living faithfully to His Word. Our strength is not of our constitution, but it is by the indwelling spirit of the Lord.

Strength is the result of a pure conscience, inner coordination, confidence, proper companionship and, above all, the presence of Christ within. If I must be fortified with the power of the Savior, the Scriptures and the Spirit, for in myself I am weak and prone to err.

There is happiness and satisfaction in living for God. Man's frustrations can be portrayed in these lines I wrote some days ago:

"Searching for something to do,
Hoping for happiness before we die;
But to impress the public eye,
Tragically failing as we try.
As sure as the sun in the sky,
Man starts the day with an empty full sigh;
Quite disinterested and wondering why;
We want to laugh, but have to cry."

Why do we stick to the Word and are steadfast in the Work of God, we shall find happiness, contentment and the satisfaction of a worthwhile life.

Some farmers have been asking whether corn will pay as a green manure crop on acres diverted from production of wheat and soybeans under government programs. Corn can produce up to seven tons of dry matter per acre, compared to 35 percent or more of the feeding value of corn silage.

What fields are turning yellow fast and it appears the harvest will be unusually early this year.

Studies by agricultural engineers show that hay which has been run through a hay conditioner will dry in half the time it takes to dry unconditioned hay. Cutting during time in half doubles the chances of putting up hay without rain damage.

An easy way to check your corn plant population per acre is to count the plants in 13 ft. 1 in. rows. If there are 30 plants in the row, there will be 1000 plants per acre. Count in several places and average to get an accurate estimate of the stand.

Rows are 38 inches apart, the count plants in 13 ft. 8 in. of the row. For 36 inch rows, count plants in 14 ft. 6 in.

The county 4-H club softball league has started playing games this morning at 8:30 p.m. There are 11 teams this year. Everyone interested is invited to see them.

Most folks who leave farming really wish they could stay. That's what Harold Quidd, University of Illinois editor and economist, has reported after interviewing 200 farmers who decided to give it up. About a third left because they felt they were just not making enough money to meet farm expenses and family needs. Another 20% left because of tenure problems. They lost their lease or couldn't agree with the landlord on a new lease. Of the young farmers, 40% or 40 years old, agree 78% left because of financial or tenure problems.

The annual summer meeting at the Brownstown experimental field of the University of Illinois will be held June 12, starting at 10 a.m. Many soils and crops experiments are conducted at the field and they are always interesting to see at this time of year. All people interested in farming are invited. Brownstown is on U. S. 40 east of Vandalia. The experiment field is on Illinois 185, southeast off U.S. 40 between Vandalia and Brownstown. Dairy scientists say farmers will get a feeding value bonus equal to 10 bushels of corn by putting alfalfa-hay in the bud stage.

Grasshoppers are appearing in large numbers just west of Madison. They are voracious because of the warm weather. The first large infestation was reported last year in townships recently. Look for them in ditchbanks, roadsides, fence rows, grass ways and similar areas. If they are present in large numbers, spray with 1/8 pound of dieldrin or 1 1/2 pounds of toxaphene per acre on areas where the crop will not be grazed or used for hay for dairy cattle or fattening livestock. You can prevent late infestations in crop fields, like corn and soybeans.

Some grasshoppers are hatching in clover fields. If you find a lot of small hoppers after the first cutting, skip or more per square yard, apply 4 pounds of Sevin or one pound of Malathion per acre. No interval is required between treatment with Sevin and harvest as hay or pasture. A 7-day interval is required for Malathion.

A few sweet corn growers have sprayed their corn for flea beetles. If plants are heavily killed by this insect, apply 1/2 pound of DDT per acre.

If the soil sticks to the shovel when you work your garden, it's too wet to handle. Working wet ground destroys the physical structure of the soil and makes it harder to handle later in the season.

Signs have been erected on the wheat variety test plots grown by Alvin Meyer just west of Paris, Tenn. and Jim Wines of the Highland-Granitic road. If you are interested in comparing the different varieties, stop and see them between now and harvest.

Larger and more powerful tractors are providing the power for fewer farmers. The cost of the project was originally estimated at $250,000, but has since been upped to $400,000.

It is likely that the number of tractors on central Illinois farms has risen 30 percent while the present city limits.

Headed by a reproduction of the drawing of the hospital, the article traces the difficulties of Dr. E. W. Walton in building a site for the 50-bed facility. It also includes a picture of Dr. Walton.
